

RANK AND FILE GETTING PEEVISH

Signs of That Tired Feeling in Evidence at Police Headquarters.

BLIND BECKSTEAD'S REWARD

Sergeant Who Could Not See the Stockade, Promoted Over Several Heads—Two Detectives Resign.

Belle London, who in private life seeks to be known as Mrs. Dora B. Topham, the jealous ruler of Salt Lake's underworld and the mistress of the police department, last night dispensed her queenly favor and disfavor through the city council and the chief of police.

Police Sergt. R. M. Beckstead, who a few weeks ago was given a total of 413 warrants of arrest to serve upon inmates of the stockade, but who after nights of dreary searching in the appointed hour of darkness could find nothing but the bare walls and empty rooms of the stockade was last night promoted to the position of chief of detectives—this being his reward for his activity in the stockade affairs.

Detective P. C. Howell, who was demoted in the city of driving negro women into the crime and houses controlled by Belle London followed the path of former Chief of Detectives George A. Sheets—he was given the opportunity to resign.

The near upheaval occurring within the ranks of the police department first came public through the action of the council last night upon the recommendation of Chief of Police S. M. Barlow, this morning caused a shock of surprise within the department's rank and file that gradually simmered into a spirit that, unexpressed, yet means dissension.

WITH SUBMISSIVE MIND.

As in the case of the resignation of George Sheets, no one will speak, and the chief of police is the most reticent of all, leaving the air of the submissiveness to who has simply done what he was ordered to do, and without question.

While former Sergt. Beckstead, now chief of detectives, has been an efficient and faithful officer, it is wondered why he was promoted to be chief of the detectives. He entered the service of the police department as patrolman March 12, 1906, and was promoted to be sergeant Sept. 28, 1908. His duties have always been that of a street officer, and he has never been looked upon in the line of a detective. His latest duty, and the one that brought him into the favorable notice of the department was his failure to be able to serve the 413 warrants issued against the inmates of the stockade. During City Atty. Dinny's crusade against Belle London, and the daily issuance of batches of 15 and 20 warrants, Sergt. Beckstead was entrusted with the service, and always strangled enough between the hours of 10 and 11 o'clock at night found the stockade closed. At all other hours of the day and night the stockade was wide open.

CARELESS MR. HOWELL

Detective P. C. Howell was less fortunate in the graces of Belle London and the chief of police. He was promoted to be chief of detectives, and the chief of police made within police circles had been a little too negligent in forcing colored fallen women to abandon their uptown homes and live within Belle London's protected stockade. After a short conference with the chief of police yesterday Mr. Howell, like Mr. Sheets, handed in his resignation.

Detective Harry J. Curran was also too inactive to suit the fancy of the police department as dictated to by the whim of Belle London, and he, too, handed in his resignation. He was promoted to be chief of detectives, and the chief of police made within police circles had been a little too negligent in forcing colored fallen women to abandon their uptown homes and live within Belle London's protected stockade. After a short conference with the chief of police yesterday Mr. Howell, like Mr. Sheets, handed in his resignation.

BUT WHAT'S THE USE.

In the meantime the best men, and the real strength of the department, are getting discouraged. To the outsider the system is peculiar. While Sergt. Beckstead has been an efficient officer, yet there are others who have more service to the city. Sergt. J. J. Roberts patrolled a beat 20 years ago, entering the department Jan. 2, 1900. He has been a sergeant for the past seven years and is now the ranking duty sergeant. Sergt. J. H. Johnston outranks Beckstead, having been on the force for over 10 years. In the detective department, the men whom he will command, Mr. Beckstead is almost a stranger among such veterans as George Chase, Ed Jones and others. In the ranks there are uniformed patrolmen who have served years before Chief of Detectives Beckstead entered the service of the city—but then, they didn't have the chance of avoiding the closing of the stockade under warrants of arrest.

TO REDUCE GRADE.

If the board of county commissioners act favorably on the report of the county surveyor, the road over Maxwell Hill in Big Cottonwood canyon will be reduced from a maximum grade of 22 per cent to 14 per cent. As the road is now, there is a rise of 14 feet in a distance of 90 feet, at one point. The cost of the improvement would be small, and the board of county commissioners will at their next meeting probably decide to have the work done.

MADE, IDAHO, POSTMASTER.

(Special to The News.) Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—Sophia E. Gibson has been appointed postmaster at Mace, Shoshone county, Idaho, vice C. H. Barnett, resigned.

ASKS CITY'S CO-OPERATION.

Caleb Tanner, secretary of the state road commission, has asked the co-operation of the city council in the construction of the state road from Salt Lake and Ogden. He says that at Beck's Hot Springs the road goes so close to the railroad tracks that teams are constantly frightened by passing trains and that at a moderate expense a cut in the hill at the east could be made and the dangerous point avoided.

LITTLE PASSENGER WHO HAD NO TICKET

Baby Born on Western Pacific East-bound Train This Morning—To Be Named Helen Gould.

The incoming Western Pacific passenger train which arrived in this city shortly after 8 o'clock this morning, carried with it the first baby born on the new Gould railroad. The little one first saw the light one mile west of Knolls station, about 100 miles west of Salt Lake, at 5:04 this morning. It is a girl, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Clarke of Wendover. Mr. Clarke is agent for the Western Pacific at Wendover, and had made all arrangements to bring Mrs. Clarke in to the St. Mark's hospital in this city for her accouchement, but the fates hastened the event and the first girl born on the new Western Pacific railway will be named Helen Gould Clarke, in honor of the mother of George Gould, head of the system.

There was no doctor on the train, but fortunately Mrs. Caroline Gehm, an obstetrician from Sacramento, boarded the train from the California capital en route for Jeannette, Pa., to visit her son. Mrs. Gehm officiated at the birth and wrapped the tiny mite of humanity in a shawl which she claimed she was inspired to carry with her on the train. "I debated with myself whether I should bring this little blanket," said Mrs. Gehm, "but the good Lord told me to bring it, and I see now why," and she showed the little girl snugly wrapped in the shawl and sleeping peacefully in her mother's arms. The father, who has been with the Western Pacific for five years, feels that the event is one in honor of the new line, as well as for his family.

RESTRICTED DIET FOR MRS. J. C. PIKE

Aged Woman Suing for Divorce Testifies She Lived on Potatoes and Bread for Years.

In the trial of the divorce suit commenced by Mrs. Johanna Christina Pike against William Pike of Mill Creek, before Judge Ritchie, Thursday, the plaintiff testified that her husband had not taken a bath in 23 years and added: "I have lived with my husband since March 5, 1897, and since that time he has fed me on potatoes, bread, butter and water, and nothing else. Well, after five years he has bought me one dress, that cost $2.50, and one pair of shoes, that cost $2, and all this time he had a box of money in the house so heavy I could not lift it." Mr. Pike said that Mrs. Pike, who is 71 years old, does not know her own mind and that a Mrs. Samuelson, pre-judging her, had told the judge that Judge Ritchie ordered the defendant to pay her $12 a month's temporary alimony and $25 attorney's fees.

COMPLAIN TO COUNCIL.

J. E. Burton has complained to the mayor and the city council that on E street between Fifth and Sixth avenues the street is about 3 feet higher than the sidewalk and as a result in stormy weather debris and mud accumulate on the street. The actual height of the street is rendered almost useless. Other citizens say that along Ninth and especially along Tenth avenues between A and B streets the sidewalk is in some places actually 7 feet below the level of the adjoining ground, making a trench that not only catches debris, but holds water as a ditch.

THE WEATHER IN AUGUST.

Temperature Has Been Nearly Normal During Month.

There is considerable interest current on the meteorology of the present month. The section director of the weather office says the temperature up to date has averaged neither high nor low, being but 8 of a degree below the average for August. Since the establishment of the local weather bureau there have been wide variations in the monthly temperatures. The hottest August was in 1878, when the average temperature was 78.4 degrees. The coolest August was in 1899, when the mercury averaged 69.5 degrees. The average temperature for the current month is 75.5 up to date. The highest record for this August is 94 degrees, on the 20th inst. The highest August temperature was 101 degrees, in 1875. The lowest temperature this month was 53 degrees, on the 24th of the present month. The lowest August temperature on record was 44 degrees in 1880 and 1908.

The rainfall for August, 1910, was below the normal, the average being .78 of an inch. The actual precipitation was .23 of an inch. However, this is not unusual, as in August, 1896, only .02 of an inch fell—practically nothing. In other Augusts the rainfall has been heavy, as for instance, 2.28 inches, in 1906, three times the normal amount. The hazy atmosphere that has obtained the last few days is due to smoke from the northern forest fires.

Kingsbury of the University of Utah, and is connected with the local office in the capacity of mineral lands inspector.

BROWN A CONVERSATIONIST.

Frank Brown's insistence upon impressing on the police court that he was suffering from a bad cold, came near being disastrous for Brown. When asked whether he had been guilty of being drunk or not, Brown informed the court: "Well, I was guilty in one way but in another way am not. I had an awful bad cold." For several minutes after he had been discharged Brown insisted on telling the court of the severity of his cold, and it took the combined efforts of the jailor, bailiff and other court attaches to convince Brown that his was a disastrous case, and that the only thing for him to do was to leave the courtroom.

UNCLE SAM'S REVENUES.

R. E. Carell, Commissioner, Tells of Work of His Department.

R. E. Carell, commissioner of Internal revenue, head of a department which puts into Uncle Sam's coffers the snug sum of $300,000,000 a year, is stopping off in Salt Lake a day or two on his way to Los Angeles, where he will take up business connected with the office located there. To The News Mr. Carell said that his department gives employment to upwards of 4,500 men, and the immense sum of over $300,000,000 a year was collected the last fiscal year at an expense to the government of only 1.74 per cent. The previous year it was 2.02 per cent. The year that ended June 30 showed an increase in revenues of 17 per cent over the year before. The increase in the ordinary revenue was 8.5 per cent. The total unusual increase was due on account to that being the first year of collecting corporation taxes, which totaled $20,000,000. At the time in the city, Commissioner Carell met Judge John A. Marshall. They are both Virginians, and in comparing notes found they had many mutual friends and acquaintances. Collector F. H. Callister and United States Marshal James H. Anderson took Mr. Carell for an automobile ride, showing him the sights of Salt Lake, and he freely expressed his pleasure in looking over so progressive a typical western city, which shows a push and enterprise seldom seen in eastern cities of program, but they begged to be excused as their conductor was not with them, and with some of them afflicted with colds, and the rest tired with their trip across the country. The program, they would be able to do themselves justice. But they expressed their delight with the program given by Prof. McCellan who varied considerably from the program printed in the great D minor Fugue of J. S. Bach, the Prelude to "Tristan and Isolde," and other noted compositions for the printed program.

The program, they would be able to do themselves justice. But they expressed their delight with the program given by Prof. McCellan who varied considerably from the program printed in the great D minor Fugue of J. S. # CONTRACTS LET FOR HIGHLINE

Construction of a New Road Through Meadow Valley Wash to Begin at Once.

TRACK TO BE BUILT HIGHER.

Danger From Floods Will Be Obviated In Future—New Road Thirty Feet Above Old Rails.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 26.—Construction contracts involving about $6,000,000 were signed yesterday by the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake railroad. The contracts are for the building of the new "Highline" between Guelph and Crestline, a distance of 60 miles. This stretch will obviate the necessity of running overland trains through the wash in the Salt Lake basin, where disastrous washouts have often occurred.

The total length of the line washed out on Dec. 31 last was 75 miles, extending from Barclay to Rox, a distance of 75 miles. The contracts above referred to provide for the construction of 60 miles of track between Crestline and Guelph, a distance of 60 miles, this stretch of road being located from 15 to 30 feet higher up on the mountain side than the old line.

"The high line runs along practically the same line as that now used by the road in the bottom of the wash, but these contracts cover the most important part of the Wash and the places where any danger from washouts might occur. A large force of men will be kept at work on the new line and it will be completed just as rapidly as possible and we hope to have trains running over the 'highline' in time to avoid any further danger from high water."

TWENTY-FOUR HOUR TRAIN.

"American Express" Leaves Here Sunday.

The new Salt Lake Route train, the American Express, will go in service on Aug. 28, leaving Salt Lake at 3 o'clock p.m. The train will reach Los Angeles Monday afternoon at 2:30 p.m., and is called the "American Express" because it will be made up in Salt Lake, but will consist of standard and tourist sleeping cars and baggage cars, but no day coaches. The train will be electric lighted, with every modern convenience. This will make three trains a day each way between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City. The new train will be made up in Salt Lake, and will be in service only a short time when the road was washed out on the last day of 1909.

FILING ON COAL LANDS.

Applications to Purchase in Emery and Carbon Counties.

During the past few days, 14 citizens of Utah, most of whom live in Salt Lake City, have filed with the local office their applications to purchase coal lands, most of which is situated in the eastern part of the state in Emery and Carbon counties. Each of these applications covers 160 acres, costing the applicant $25 an acre, or $4,000 for the tract. The 14 will amount to an aggregate of $60,000, which sum is being paid into the treasury of the state. The cause of the present rush to make these applications of purchase is the fact that the 14 months limitation for the state of first possession of the land is approaching.

The following are the latest to make applications: Miss Vera A. Dean of Salt Lake City, covering land in section 35 township 17 south, range 10 east, S. 1. M. Mrs. Dora Rippe Croft of Salt Lake, section 18, township 17 south, range 7 east. Nestel T. White of Salt Lake, section 34, township 17 south, range 7 east. Mrs. Margaret K. Westcott of Salt Lake, section 14, township 17 south, range 7 east.
